PolS 389 Seminar: Topics in International Relations:
Democracy, Terrorism, and Globalization
Spring 2009
Room 1115, BSB
M, 3:30 - 5:59 pm

COURSE OVERVIEW

This seminar-style course aims to familiarize you with current, cutting-edge research topics on democracy, terrorism, and globalization. Completion of this course will fulfill the Writing-in-the-Discipline requirement as a political science major. More importantly, this course is designed to give you an opportunity to develop, design, and write a research paper that can be presented at an undergraduate conference in the future. Please note that your research paper must be related to the research topics of this course.

COURSE MATERIALS

There are no required textbooks for this course. However, you are required to purchase a packet of course reading materials.

GRADING POLICY:

Class Attendance (15 points): Regular attendance is required of all students. Attendance is one of the most important measures of your interest and desire to do well academically. Your attendance helps me facilitate better discussions, and your fellow students benefit from your ideas and experiences. Without appropriate documentation, each absence will cost you 3 points. If you fail to attend more than five times, your course grade will be lowered by one letter grade. If you come late twice (i.e., after I check the class attendance), it will be counted as one absence.

Class Participation (15 points): You are expected to actively participate in class discussion. Participation includes thoughtful comments, sophisticated questions about readings, clear evidence of active listening to your fellow students, and other valuable contributions to classroom discussion.

Research Paper Proposal (15 points): The purpose of this assignment is to help you to choose your research paper topic as early as possible. It should include both introduction and literature review as well as research design. The due date is March 2. The paper should be five to eight pages long, typed, double-spaced, in 12-point Times New Roman font, with 1 inch margins on standard letter-size paper.

Draft of Research Paper (15 points): The purpose of this assignment is to help you to write up a draft of your research paper as early as possible. It should include all the necessary components of a research paper, i.e., introduction, literature review, theoretical discussion, research design, results and implications, conclusion, and references. The due date is March 30. The draft should be at least 10 pages long, typed, double-spaced, in 12-point Times New Roman font, with 1 inch margins on standard letter-size paper.

Peer Review of Drafts of Research Paper (15 points): The purpose of this assignment is to help you to become a critical but constructive reviewer. You will be asked to review drafts of your classmates' papers and expected to be critical of their strengths and weaknesses. The due date is April 6. The review should be one page long per draft, typed, single-spaced, in 12-point Times New Roman font, with 1 inch margins on standard letter-size paper.

Research Paper (25 points): The purpose of this assignment is to allow you to demonstrate your research potential. It should include introduction, literature review, research design, empirical results (or case studies), conclusion and references. The due date is May 4. The paper should be about 15 to 20 pages long (including a reference page), typed, double-spaced, in 12-point Times New Roman font, with 1 inch margins on standard letter-size paper.

Extra Credit Assignment (6 points): The purpose of this assignment is to get you to think critically about the movie Bloody Sunday in terms of how to combat terrorism. If you do not attend the movie session, your review will not be accepted. The due date for the review is April 6. The movie review must be one page long, typed, double-spaced, in 12-point Times New Roman font, with 1 inch margins on standard letter-size paper.

Class Discussion Leadership for Additional Extra Credit (6 points each): Students who volunteer to lead the second half of a class period will receive 6 points per discussion. You are expected to take a side with respect to the reading assignments of your choice. Your opening remarks should take about 20 minutes.

The grading scale is as follows: A (≥ 90); B (80-89); C (70-79); D (60-69); F (< 60)

OTHER COURSE POLICIES

Late work: I am willing to help solve almost any special problem or concern you might have with this course. However, this is only possible if you talk to me about it in advance of assignments' due dates. Extensions for assigned work will be granted only for documented medical or family emergencies. In sum, if you anticipate difficulty submitting assigned work by the specified due date because of illness or other emergency, extensions are possible only when you:

- contact me in advance by email only
- provide me with appropriate documentation

Extremely important: For the record, you must keep our email exchanges for extensions granted in your email account (i.e., both your request email to me and my grant email to you). If you fail to present both emails, your claim will not be supported. This means that for your own protection, you can delete our email exchanges from your email account 60 days after you are officially able to check your final course grade online.

Computer-related problems: Ultimately, you are responsible for backing up your own work and caring properly for your own computing equipment. I may grant extensions for assignments due to computer-related problems, but only in the rarest of circumstances. First, I will not entertain any requests for extensions due to computer-related problems made to me within 12 hours of the paper's due date. If you expect computer difficulties to make it impossible for you to submit a paper by the due date (and that due date is not within 12 hours) contact me and we will discuss alternative arrangements for you.

Accommodations for disabilities: Students with disabilities must inform me of the need for accommodations. Those who require accommodations for access and participation in this course must be registered with the Disability Resource Center. Please contact ODS at 312-413-2183 (voice) or 312-413-0123 (TTY).

Academic dishonesty: The University expects students to fulfill their academic obligations through honest and independent effort. Any effort to gain an advantage not given to all students is dishonest whether or not the effort is successful. Academic dishonesty is considered a serious offense subject to strong disciplinary actions, including being dropped from the course with a grade of "F."

Classroom etiquette: You are expected to observe all rules of proper classroom conduct. In order to insure an appropriate environment conducive to learning by all: (1) please refrain from talking, eating or other disruptive activity during class; even one or two conversations quickly create distractions for other students; (2) no cell phone calls, incoming or outgoing, are allowed in this class; please turn off your cell phone or set it to vibrate; and (3) please do not come to class late. Also, please do not leave class early; if you must do so, tell me beforehand and arrange to sit near the door so your exit will be less disruptive.
